cobra, which wastes no venom on dead or fleeing things. Although serpents do have an eyelid, those that have them are transparent, and you can't tell whether that eyelid is up or down, so they say a snake never blinks. Well, if the cobra is going to be my model for some purposes, I will take the king cobra as my model for those eyeball to eyeball contests, and the cobra will never blink first. But I don't think we'll reach that point on this bill. Thank you, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: Thank you, Senator Chambers. Further discussion on the Chambers amendment? Seeing none, the Chair would recognize Senator Chambers, to close.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President, I withdraw that amendment.

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: Thank you, Senator Chambers. The amendment is withdrawn. Further discussion on the bill? Seeing none, the Chair would recognize Senator Stuhr, to close.

SENATOR STUHR: Thank you, Mr. President and members of the body. I would like to call for a call of the house. I do that.

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: There's been a request to place the house under call. The question is, shall the house go under call? All those in favor please vote aye; those opposed vote nay. Please record, Mr. Clerk.

ASSISTANT CLERK: 26 ayes, 0 nays to go under call, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT HEINEMAN: The house is under call. Senators, please record your presence. Those senators outside the Chamber, please return to the Chamber and record your presence. All unauthorized personnel please leave the floor. The house is under call. Chair would recognize Senator Stuhr, to close.

SENATOR STUHR: Okay. Thank you, Mr. President and members of the body. I do very much appreciate the discussion that we've had on this bill. As I said earlier, we are really cutting new ground. We will be regulating and licensing body art practitioners and facilities where body art is performed, and
